Pace-setting

Revolution means change. In 1776 a group of people revolted to procure changes they felt were necessary. There is certainly no physical combat at DHS, but there is a different kind of revolution. Perhaps this quiet revolution does not happen quickly enough to satisfy students: the lack of a smoking lounge; inaccessability to the candy machines during the day; and an impossibility of total selection of class schedules. Study halls exit as the much-appreciated SST schedule enters. Changes have occured in styles. It is not uncommon to see a bluejean clad male with shoulder length professionally styled hair, whereas, a few years ago a female was forbidden to even wear slacks to school. The frantic pace of the active students is stepped up as they travel from one activity to another. All students are alike, though, in that they are growing, developing into special people--themselves. As they mature, they gain experiences and memories in the course of this quiet revolution.

Revolutions

Students marveled at the scholarships, contests and awards presented in honor of the bicentennial year. The "tones" were absent in between classes which made a more relaxing atmosphere. Early morning anedotic announcements brought grins to faces. Pep sessions, bonfires, games, convocations, meetings and practices weaved into our lives. The administration offered a bribe to anyone who was willing to attend all but two days of school--no semester tests. Pow Wow had to charge five cents to its readers to pay for printing charges. The school board granted an extra two days vacation to the students midway between Christmas and Spring breaks, while an icy winter brought other unexpected breaks. Changes were made as people matured. In the past as well as the future, we find school like a wagon wheel, making its quiet revolution down a dirt road.

Getting There

Scanning the horizon for a blinking red light that signals a lumbering school bus, the groggy student stumbles out into the early morning hours to board the yellow machine. As the vehicle jostles towards the formidable factory, he peers out his window pondering an improbable escape. The machine grinds to a halt and the student is swept up into the tide of fellow classmates dragging his heavy burden of texts and weary body through the glass doors. Collapsing on a sticky table in the Commons, he slumbers contentedly until once again, the river of students pulls him to his locker.

Zombie-eyed, he sits in first hour class as amusing announcements blare out of the intercom. Sometimes he spends the morning in a stupor until the hunger pains force him into reality.

Tones at 3:00 proclaim the end of school where he converses with classmates at cramped lockers. Occassionally, energetic people grab a smashed can and join in a game of football. Some dash to the IGA for a quick snack. Snowballs are a temptation in the long winter months.

Relief arrives as the shiny bus winds up the drive, throwing open its doors to a swell of music. Gratefully, the student boards, energetically discussing the day.

UPPER LEFT: Tina White, Jenny Holloway, Bonnie Eubank, and Janet Shoening start each morning in the commons. UPPER CENTER: Waiting for their bus three guys heckle each other. Elbow Pressure

A dramatic change of style for the DHS Warrior Band came marching in with a new band director. This was occasionally difficult to adjust to: heads were split open by flag poles; rifles were broken; blisters developed; and muscles were re-discovered. They finally felt prepared for their first performance. Unfinished uniforms were safety-pinned as chins were lifted "three inches above the horizon, sir!"

Concert season started in a flurry of jewelry, fruitcake, and ticket sales. Chairs were competed for and concert music was deciphered. Pep Band was outfitted in red sweaters, and Stage Band began practice for their "Evening in Jazz" concert. This year's chaotic group developed into one that enjoys each other as well as performing.

Creativity

With paintbrushes in hand art students were prepared for any situation from a snowy landscape to a summer sunset. But the scope of the art students was not limited to paper. After many hours of work, a lifeless wad of clay became an ashtray, a bowl, or a vase. A telltale piece of string became a beautiful macrame´ project. At the annual art show many students exhibited their works and felt the thrill of achieving recognition for their self-expression.

Physical Education consists of a 60 minute period, 15 of which are spent taking showers and changing clothes. Sometimes on our birthdays we experience the joy of taking a shower wearing our clothes. The remainder of the period is spent improving "our physical fitness?" Collapsing just before the finish line in the mile run (with our record-breaking time of two hours) is a struggle we face in P. E. After a lot of hard work and sweat we finally do our first push-up we run ten laps around the gym and we do a front drop on the trampoline and some of us feel a sense of accomplishment being so "physically fit."

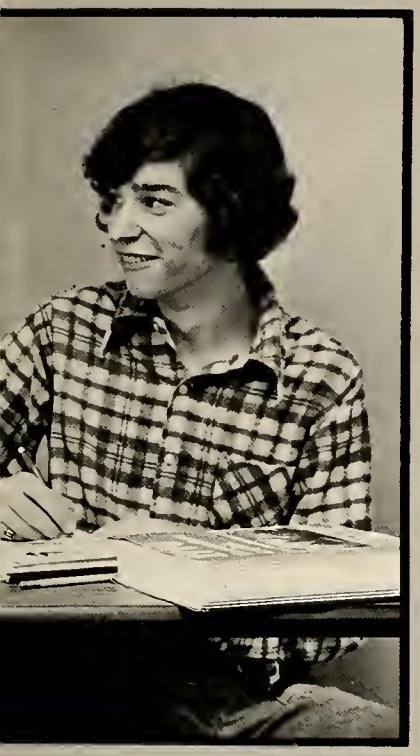
Preparations

Work study students may be seen helping others by keeping towels and gym suits available, helping in the kitchen, or various other jobs around the school. The courses are centered around one goal . . . to teach people the responsibilities of a job. Mr. Bradshaw helps the students with job placement. He teaches the basic courses such as history, government, English, and math. He also shows the students how to handle money, how to work the cash register and how to balance a checkbook. Work study students take courses such as physical education, home economics, typing and art. The students can study at their own speed, everyone working at his own level. The courses allow students to be aware of what is going on in school and what life will be like outside of school after graduation.



We the People . . .

Teachers used to make us memorize the Preamble to the Constitution, say the Pledge of Allegiance and sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Now they are afraid it's unconstitutional. On July 4, we celebrate the beginning of our country because 200 years ago a group of men declared our independence. Our forefathers provided for our education and as much as we complain, most of us appreciate some part of school. In classes like government, psychology, and civics, students learn how our government works. We discussed our right to privacy and learned that it is illegal to give our personal files without permission. Studying World History showed us how we have developed compared to other countries. In U. S. History, we learned about the dramatic changes resulting from the Space Age, the Civil War, and of course, the American Revolution. Today, perhaps, alterations are more subtle. We realize in this year, 1976, that we have an interesting heritage and the quiet revolution continues . . .

Expressions

Let's think this year of the times we hold near and dear to our hearts in English classes. Remember the day you gave your award-winning speech only to find out later that your fly was open? Or what about the "creative" project, the collages, you did and the radio scripts you worked so hard on in Journalism, only to discover someone had erased your tape? Remember struggling to write a theme five minutes before class? Will you forget the morning you went to Chicago with the Humanities class? Freshmen, how do you feel about GREAT EXPECTATIONS and ROMEO AND JULIET? Sophomores, was it exhausting trying to write clever haikus, cinquains and limericks? Juniors, did you have a merry time with reports, note cards and research papers? And seniors, which course did you choose? English 12 or C.P. English--both taught by the same teacher, the honorable Mrs. Blough. Memories--that is all they are now, and to think we made it through another year.

Vocal Vibrations

The year started off with a new breathing exercise that make seagulls look sick. It consisted of flapping your arms and inhaling till you burst--then you could exhale. Several Robed Choir performances at community churches were given and a Christmas concert was given on the 14th of December. Hard work for contests and festivals were put forth as students fought sore throats and colds. Robed Choir and the Glee Clubs finished their year with the Spring concert that proved that the new breathing technique was at least a success.

Communication

Nimble fingers and a quick mind are "assets" if you want to get "credits" in business. If you're the "elite type" of person, typing is probably your speed. If you're a person who likes to "account" for your actions, your skills can really "pay" off in accounting. If you don't like these, General Business, Shorthand, Clerical and Secretarial can keep you in "busy-ness". You will meet frustrations in this department like trying to type "add" and coming up with something vulgar. While Shorthand and Accounting became hieroglyphical monsters to the unsuspecting, the largest frustration of all is trying to get your files in order for the 6th time. After taking these classes, you have skills that will be useful in the fast growing business world.

In the first year of foreign language, a fascinating history was presented to me. The class is a lot of hard work but it also contains plenty of good times. Learning foreign Christmas carols and eating the exotic foods made the whole year quite an experience.

Preparing

Every person must know how to get a spoon out of the mixer after getting it stuck, how to turn whipping cream into butter, and the difference between corn starch and corn syrup. Nothing compares with the feeling of utter dispare one feels when your pie crust comes out of the oven and breaks into little pieces when you drop it. At times even the best of us do not sew exactly right and make mistakes, like sewing a sleeve to the leg hole. The best part of Home Economics is knowing that the dish you prepared or the dress you made is your very own.

Industrious

There was a minor upset in the industrial arts department this year when classes that had been composed mainly of the male species were joined by female counterparts. After everyone adjusted to the washing of hands in mixed company, they got down to business. The curriculum has been developed and now, the students have quite a variety of classes to choose from such as drawing, woods, metals, power mechanics, plastics, electricity and graphic arts. Students can always expect something strange to happen when they least expect it. Being shocked or hit with an eraser are a couple of surprises. And we all know nothing is more fun than being imprisoned in a room with a screaming power saw--especially when you have a headache.

TEACHER BLOCK: L. Evola, Plastics, Graphic Arts, Electricity; B. Chadd, Metals, Power Mechanics; G. Cook, Drawing, Woods. BELOW: Keith Minor, Rick Howe, and Rick Church, learn that they really are mechanically minded.

"Six plus five times the root of X to the fourth power is equal to the second derivative of Y--right? Oh, the answer is 5? I must have made a mistake somewhere." Mistakes were an "integral" part of the Math Department but sooner or later almost everybody understood all the "angles" of how to "function" as a well "rounded" Math student.

Star light, star bright
Will there be an Astronomy assignment tonight?
Maybe no and maybe yes,
But you'd better study for your Chemistry test
Don't forget, there's Biology too,
And you can't sleep when there's Physics to do.
Physical Science makes it complete

The shock of being Juniors hit us, we were finally upperclassmen. We found out that nothing was as thrilling as spilling cold coke down our legs or spraining our ankles trudging to the opposing side. In vain we sold subscriptions to our fathers, grandmothers . . . anyone who did not run when they saw us coming. Our efforts to raise money went to the Jr. -Sr. reception, a night to remember.

Frosh, Layne Oppy knows what it is like being a model.

The Freshmen have experienced much this year. They have learned to avoid the plastic trees in the hall, to hang on to their books like their life depended on it and to join in when everyone rushes to lunch. But nothing can top the feeling they had when they were introduced formally by the seniors. The butterflies in their stomachs and the scared look in their eyes have left them, as they struggled through their first year.

Service

Last year's Student Council helped to make the Donkey Game a big success. New students were introduced to DHS in a pleasant manner at the beginning of school, and the hassle over the twenty minute longer days was resolved partly with the tremendous help of this organization. And of course, Homecoming just wouldn't be the same without Student Council's enthusiasm.

Sportsmen

How many people does it take to consume over a thousand donuts, hundreds of cups of coffee and what seemed like a million sandwiches? The number of people at the Junior Olympics is about the right answer. All this food was furnished by the Lettermen; a group composed of hard working athletes who have earned the privilege of being a letterman.

Layouts 'n Laughter

The birth of the '76 yearbook was in early June. To celebrate, a few of its creators spent one to two weeks at Indiana University. There, these people discovered new styles and fashions to place on each page of Tom Tom. Adding color would probably bring out some hidden feature of our book of memories. By August, the basic order of Tom Tom had been established and its future looked bright. Work would soon pull things together. By putting pictures, copy, captions and headlines in their appropriate places, our book took on definite shapes and designs. But rarely did the creators have a chance to stand back and gaze at the work of art that lay before them. Time was an important factor and could not be wasted. Since authors and designers of great books are usually "masterminds," Tom Tom should have had no problems growing up. Then why did it grow in such unusual spasms as it neared a deadline? The reason for this may have been due to the many "masterminds" attempting to compose, in a very short amount of time, fantastic pieces of literature we call "copy." Whatever the cause, Tom Tom has grown up, now displaying the pride and self-satisfaction of its creators and Danville High School.

Speak Out

Capturing fifth place at the Mooresville speech meet encouraged the novice team. Improvement was gained in spite of nervous jitters between rounds. Some members won ribbons but all learned how to speak better publicly as the team progressed.

The Thespians were busy this year, participating in two plays and one musical. Sets had to be constructed and lines memorized. Occasionally it was frustrating rehearsing over the sounds of power saws and banging hammers. At times it was difficult, but good experience was gained in dramatics, music, and stage presentations.

Caring

Tri-Hi-Y is a Christian organization for the girls in grades ten through twelve. Their main goal is to help others in our community and school. The members give away fruit baskets in November and they also donate money to Opportunity Cottage. Caring is something that represents Tri-Hi-Y.

Musical Moods

Soft dreamy ballads and slow rock were the styles escaping from the stage as an 'Evening In Jazz' began the season. The spring season had proved successful for the stage band as they won three perfect firsts at contest in second division and also fourth place in the Jazz Festival at Indiana State University.

Keeping with the high quality reached by the band before graduation would be challenging since the rhythm section was entirely new and every section had novices; including the director. These all contributed to creating the typical discord and easy jazz.

The group practiced seemingly endless hours to perfect their sound. The artist has to be able to get the feel of the chart to develop the mood. Flowing ballads are especially difficult as in "Here's That Rainy Day", which could be the theme song of the group.

TOP LEFT: Rich tones float from the bell of Kay Frederick's horn as he stands in the spotlight. LEFT: Softly the theme to the "Summer of Forty-two" floats over stage as the band prepares for the concert. TOP: So begins another rehearsal for Donnie Humphress. ABOVE: STAGE BAND--ROW ONE: D. Wave the Flag

Enthusiasm, talent and hard work went into the Swing Choirs this year. We had a difficult but enjoyable time getting in gear for our Bicentennial Review. Mrs. Poynter struggled to teach us the words to the "Carpenter's Medley" and "I Only Have Eyes For You." She sighed happily when the garbled sounds turned into words and only occasionally did a girl sing a boy's part. Mrs. Bailey, with her quest to put coordination into our movements met with her foe in "Fascinating Rhythm." She became victor as she untangled the boy's legs and they looked like true professionals. Although we had our tragedies the performance came out on top. The curtains closed while a few tears of happiness were shed because we hoped the rest of the year would prove as promising.

Exhuberance

Being a Matmaid is cheering and yelling and then realizing the whole gym is quiet except for your sole mouth . . . Wearing the wrong outfit the day of the match or wearing the right outfit but having freezing legs on your way to the meet . . . Learning new cheers and trying to count the referees fingers as he gives points . . . Telling a guy he was great even though he just lost 39-0 . . . Crying, sobbing, hugging, laughing, and telling the wrestlers to pin--pin--PIN--PIN!

Each member in FHA is very special and a warm person; each has a need to help other people and in turn help oneself to a better and richer life. An FHA'er must be one that is dedicated. One must care enough to not be afraid of sharing ideas with someone else. Being in FHA means sacrifices--time, work, ideas. FHA is the building and strengthening of our lives. FHA is helping, working, creating, and most of all living and loving.

Oktoberfest

And I thought English was hard! Now I am in a club of German, Spanish, and French students all grouped together! Trying to compromise with three nationalities is a bit challenging but it is fun, too. We learn about the customs and ways of life of these countries, especially the way they celebrate their holidays and the foods they eat. In December at our "fiesta" we "spieled". During this month we also went to the County Home and sang Christmas Carols in German, Spanish, and French. The best part of being in Language Club, though, is watching the people's faces when they taste a foreign food for the first time and then madly rush to the drinking fountain.

One reason most people join Library Club is because most of us like to read! We also learn about all the different areas in our library and how the library operates. We check out books help people find information from past issues of magazines, sell paperbacks, and help get new books ready to be put on the shelves. In November we went to a dinner with other club members from other schools.

Pow-Wow

Every Monday night, a group of students interested in journalism get together to produce our school newspaper, the POW-WOW. In the POW-WOW, we try to report to the student body what is happening in their school. We also try to give exposure to student writers with exceptional talent. It's a lot of work, but also a lot of fun to read the finished product.

Honor Society

In addition to its once-a-month meetings, the Honor Society conducts some special events. One such event is the annual induction of new members. Another important annual event is the Bake Sale that was held the day before Thanksgiving Vacation. The money received from this sale will go into a fund to purchase special recognition awards for the Honor Society's graduating members. These will be worn on graduation night.

We've Got Spirit — How 'Bout You?

It's another year of the same old grind
Sometimes we feel that we're out of our mind
Practice makes perfect and cheers galore
It all adds up when we see our team score
It deflates your ego when you fall on your head
And sometimes you fell as if you're almost dead
But you keep on yelling with all your might
For that great team in the Red and White
But our main goal is to have faith and a smile
For cheerleading you see, is all worthwhile!

SPORTS

Bunker to Bunker

As soon as the early spring sun rose high enough to burn off the winter frost the DHS golf team went to work smoothing out the hitches in their swings and trying to find that elusive formula that lowers the scores and raises the chances of victory. Fighting polar conditions and a quickly passing calendar, each and every golfer stressed the weaknesses in his game in an effort to bring a lower total than the day before. Golf is the distance you need, the consistency you want, and the accuracy you must have. Last years team was never able to get all the ingredients together, however, with everyone back for another campaign the recipe for victory could turn into a tasty treat for DHS golfers.

Destination

Cross country is, at its best, a grueling sport. On a good day the ground passes quickly under a pair of swiftly moving feet, but most often each blade of grass seems like a mountain to be climbed and defeated. Leading the pack is a thrill most never experience but the satisfaction of conquering a course is one which can be shared by everyone.

Service Ace

One on one competition and two on two duels with individual pride and personal honor at stake--that's what Warrior tennis was all about. Turning simple bouncing balls into ballistic missiles, the DHS varsity team had both the exhiliaration of a service ace and the disappointment of a double fault at match point. The Warrior victory total didn't quite reach pre-season projections but overall it was a good season full of dramatic play, incredible shots and controversial calls all blurred together into a 3-8 record.

Saucy and sexy plus a little talent describes the new girls' tennis team. Starting out fresh, the girls accomplished a great deal for their first year with coaches, C. Wills and R. Helton there to instruct, supervise, laugh with us and at us the season proved to be quite eventful. We were showed new methods and techniques, learned how to out-maneuver our opponents, and learned how to play a better tennis game as we gave both physically and mentally. A winning season proved our ability.

Cleat Marks

"Play it again, Sam" were the words echoed by both the fans and players when speaking of the '75 varsity season. The thoughts of those few days in September and October in which a long delayed return to winning at DHS filled the halls with enthusiasm and the bleachers with cheering fans would be played time and time again in the minds eye throughout the cold winter. It was a season to relish, recall, and rejoice for on just a few Friday nights in the fall, both the loyal fans and the just plain curious left the warmth of their own homes to watch the Warriors march on to victory. Play that '75 season again, Sam, for it was a smash hit.

Pigskin

Green Freshmen ripened by experience and fear have traditionally symbolized the first season of high school football, but this year a new twist was added as the '75 Freshman team turned their efforts into the sweet fruit of victory. Throughout the season a rip and run style of play brightened the future of varsity football by a considerable margin. Ambition and desire were ever present in the eyes of the young Warriors and hopefully will remain there through many victories to come.

"We Got 'Em"

The volleyball team provided the girls with instant status in the DHS sports world. We emerged from the powder room and soon proved that volleyball may not be quite as easy as everyone thinks it is. Our fight chant for the season turned out to be true in more ways than one. It served its purpose for 6 out of the 11 games.

BELOW: Delaine Campbell sets high as All-Conference Janet Bolton moves in for the "kill." BOTTOM: The long hours of practice combined with the guiding hand of Coach Younce were a key factor in the Warrior success.

Double Dribble

The last Senior to leave the locker room turned out the lights, then reflected back on a puzzling four-year basketball career. There wasn't much left--pieces of memories, strands of humor, scraps of melancholy, shreds of dead dreams--all cluttered together with confusion and frustration. When you lose, the basket is higher, smaller, and impossible to reach. When you end up on the short end of the score for thirty-nine straight games, the court is longer, wider and filled with opposing players. When the cheers from the stands turn to mockery and laughter, the ball is heavier, more elusive, and bounces more wildly than ever before. The pride of these young men was battered and beaten throughout their careers, however, their dedication kept them coming back game after game, practice after practice, loss after loss. The few rays of sunshine that managed to break through the bleak winter sky in the form of victory did brighten the picture somewhat, but the real joy and satisfaction for these young competitors came from the pride found in wearing the Warrior crimson and gray.

Girl's Athletics hurdled another barrier this year as pride, determination and a love of competition kept the girls basketball team rolling through the season. It was the third year for the girls and a twelve game schedule was already set, so Mrs. Younce decided to take over. The girls came out with four wins for Varsity and nine wins for Reserve. The season drew to a close on February 4 when Hoosier Hysteria began for girls' teams across the state. At Plainfield, Danville played the opening game of one of the many girls' sectionals in the state. They were defeated by Brownsburg but only after history had been recorded.

Watery Wonders

The DHS swim team made a big splash in 1976 as the chlorinated water gang pooled their talents for a fine 10-3 season. Consistently pulling the plug on their opponents, the teams' performance improved with each and every dip into the water. As the records fell and the teams dropped, the Warriors squelched any chance of an opponent's victory.

SWIM TEAM--FIRST ROW: R. Frederick; T. Hagerty; J. Ray; M McCoy; T. Machin; D. Spotila; J. Underwood; J. Stout; K. Stevens, Student Manager. SECOND ROW: S. Carmichael, Coach; M. Miller; F. Morgan; D. Pool Sharks

The '75 girls bikini corps made a big splash in their third year of competition. A higher tide seems to mount with each meet gaining more respect along with more fans. The future looks bright for last year's 7-3 squad as a strong nucleus of underclassmen return for at least one more campaign of watery delights.

Weight, Not Wait

Wrestling is a sport unlike any other at the high school level. It's putting your strength and mental abilities together in not only figuring out a way to defeat your opponent but also a method to lose five pounds in two days. Throughout the long, grueling season the DHS wrestlers gave their all in the search for victory. Perhaps a few more tallies in the win column would have helped the campaign along, but the invaluable experience gathered should show up in next year's mat performances.

Flowing Strides

Discipline and hardwork--that's what track and field is all about. The heights an athlete can reach are solely the workings of his own self-discipline as the life of going home to television and pretzels must be sacrificed for grueling afterschool workouts. Four wins in ten starts was somewhat less than what some had hoped for but it did disprove the old saying that the only excitement at a track meet is the starter firing the gun. The excitement of competition does, indeed, begin as that initial crack drifts slowly into the crisp spring air, but the thrill of victory lies at the finish line far ahead.

TOP: Jay Stout "stretches it out" in a come-from-behind effort against Greencastle. RIGHT: Dan Thomas' opponents watch with great anticipation as he attempts to reach a new height. VARSITY TRACK--ROW ONE: D. Hess; D. Thomas; M. Martin; I. Davis; B. Etienne; D. Sharp; S. Leath; F. Mason; D. Spotila; R. Kearney; ROW TWO: R. Lambert; R. Cross; T. Pierson; S. Huckstep; J. Stout; S. Starting Block

Girls dig in at the starting blocks, the starter's gun barks and the field is off. Moving fast and gracefully, girls sports are on the way, destination unknown. Anything could happen when girls struggle into sweats and face the early spring's biting wind for the beginning of girl's track at DHS, and happen they did. Tomboys since their younger years, the girls were given a chance to prove themselves in competiton. They showed girls can win as a brand new "powder puff league" was on its way. Coach Wagner's workouts and helpful hints led the team to victories and, of course, new school records, ending the first season with a successful 4 and 1 mark.

Strike Zone

Winning wasn't a long term proposition with the Warrior baseball team, but excitement was nevertheless ever present. A young Warrior team with juniors and sophomores toiling in low profiled excellance found that, "Diamonds are not necessarily a guy's best friend." To the players, baseball was a fact of life with magical moments of home runs and heroism blurred together with the frustration of an infield error and the disappointment of losing the big game. A 5-10-1 record for 1975 left all championship hopes stranded in the dug-out until 1976.

UPPER CENTER: All eyes are focused on home as Bob McElwain attempts to tally another run for the Warriors. BELOW: Rich Turner digs in to get a better look at the pitch before he strokes out another base hit. LOWER CENTER: At this point the score doesn't really matter as the battle is between pitcher and hitter. RIGHT: Jeff Birchler shows that "extra effort" on the last step which can often make the difference between a hit and an easy out. VARSITY BASEBALL--ROW ONE: T. Konechnik, manager; J. Hatcher; R. Dodson; R. Torbeck; S. Price; J. Saddler; G. Varvel; R. Turner; R. Bridwell; D. Church, manager. ROW TWO--M. Clausman; T. Graddy; J. Davis; D. Land; B. McElwain; K. Morphew; J. Davis; M. Siddons; J. EVENTS

Winning

The Warriors met a challenge for their 28th Homecoming game. The opponents, the Speedway Sparkplugs, had defeated the Warrior football team for ten previous years. Coach Burrows promised a victory if the team was backed with spirit. Floats had to be made and homework was often forgotten. On Thursday night a crowd of loyal fans gathered at the school for a bonfire.

At the pep session, after a brutal contest, the Juniors won the Spirit Jug. The parade began the festivities and at halftime Junior Laura Cole was crowned 1975 Homecoming Queen. The seniors' float "Teach 'Em a Lesson" won first place. After those ten years of losing to Speedway, the Warriors fought for a 6-0 victory. A dance for students and a party for Danville Alumni followed the game, and celebrations were in order.

From Tuxes to Nosegays

Saturday night, the 27th of September, two long lines of formals, suits, flowers, and chatter were present in the hallway leading from the gym to the commons. These lines were waiting for 8:00 p. m. to arrive so they could trail on into the gym as their respective members were called. David Alexander and Pat McNabb gave their speeches and an opening dance to the theme "Beginnings" concluded the reception.

"A Time for Us" was the theme of the Jr. -Sr. Reception. The evening started with students trying to find a place to park at the Airport Hilton. The first order on the agenda was dinner at 6:30 p. m. Bare feet were not uncommon because the combination of tight fitting rented shoes and smoldering heat were too much. After dinner, Rick Torbeck and Bob McElwain roasted the teachers, the administration, and each other in speech. The students fought their way through the smoked filled banquet room to dance to the music of "Lady and Friends." Time passed quickly as 12:00 rolled around for those tired and run down students who had yet to make ready for the parties and picnics of Sunday.

AIRPORT HILTON INN

Understanding . . .

. . . Argentina

Last January, in Argentina, I decided myself to travel abroad because I always had wanted to do it. I had an idea what I was going to find here, however, I found even more than I thought. I was amazed when I saw the school in which I was going to study, Danville High School, not only because it was a large building but also because everybody here is so nice and friendly. Coming to the United States was one of my goals, a hard one, and now that I've got it, I am grateful to everyone who made it possible. It is the greatest experience I have ever had.

Sergio Medina

UPPER RIGHT: Enjoying the sights and sounds of the homecoming parade are Frank Burchard from Germany and Sergio Medina from Argentina.
LOWER RIGHT: Appearing to be enjoying the Freshman Senior Reception is Sergio Medina.
BELOW: As an Indian, Sergio steps into his role very easily.

Understanding . . .

Germany

When I heard that I would be one of the exchange students from Germany, I did not know what to expect. It is interesting to get used to changing from class to class because this system will be used in every high school in Germany next year.

I am very thankful for the chance given by my parents here and there, for me to experience life in the United States.

Frank Burchard

Lights and Lines

"Music Man" made its way to the stage of DHS for the second time in ten years in the spring of 1975. This was quite an undertaking considering it took six directors to pull it off. Keeping noise at a minimum was also an undertaking because there was a cast of at least fifty to keep quiet backstage. From the "All aboard!" at the beginning of the musical to the "River City Boys' Band" marching through the audience at the end, "Music Man" was again a success.

Two twittering old ladies, several wine glasses, and a bottle of poisoned elderberry wine hit the stage as "Arsenic and Old Lace" was performed on November 15 & 16, 1975. Among the hassles in preparing this comedy were the forgetting of lines, broken hinges on the windowseat, and screaming directors. Yet through hard work and determination, the cast, crew, and Mr. Illg made the play a success.

Achievements

Awards are given to recognize outstanding achievements. Receiving an award can be the highlight of the student's high school career. When accepting the honor one feels a sense of accomplishment and self-satisfaction.

Wanderlust

The Children's Theater began with its first production, "The Clown Prince of Wanderlust." It proved to be surprising and funny to children and cast members. Numerous chase scenes, imaginary animals and guys wearing tights lent itself to lightheartedness.

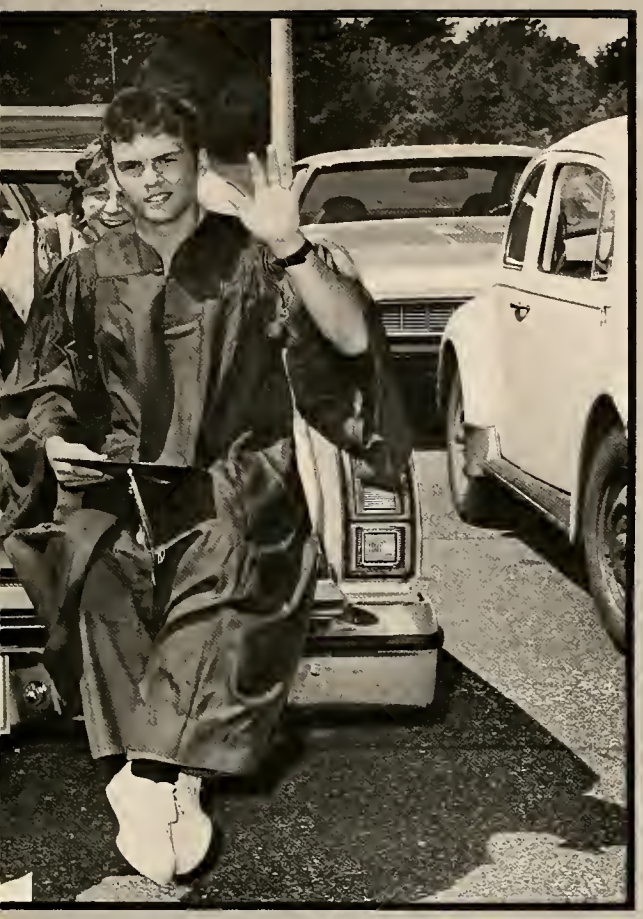
DANVILLE COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL



Wagon Wheel

Commencement means a beginning. On that evening seniors garbed in royal blue and red gowns reminisce over the past twelve years. Memories flash across glistening eyes; scrawling '76 over every possible surface to prove that was the great year of parties, embarrassing moments, dances, pranks, awards, friends . . . moments that are gone. Decisions are made that not only affect the immediate future but the future of the nation. The 200th anniversay of the United States of America marks a beginning, too. The continuous revolution is quickening its pace as one feels unsure, excited and promising. It is time to enter the world, and perhaps unaware, this group is the start of century three. . .

Tim,

Hey, the way our relationship turned out was pretty cool and I wish it would keep on being that way. When you leave tell me, please!! I really want to know. If you get into to any trouble call me. I depend on you! You're a person that understands.

Take care! Love you,

Monica (Baby Blue)

P.S. Write me a poem with this phrase: When I die I shall return as a hawk to prove no matter how hard they try I will always be free!

Hey Tim—
Miss Ya,
Write me soon,
Love ya,
Forever your
Farm girl—
Deep
Jeanette

Jim,
What can I say but:

I LOVE YOU! You got me through hard days.
Courage + high hopes for the rest of your life!

Always + forever,
Jenna
